MAIN WITNESS IN OLD MURDER CASE IS FOUND

Reporter Finds Man Who Knows Inside Of
Taylor Case

BY FRANK H. BARTHOLOMEW,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

San Francisco, Jan. 6.—(UP)—Otis Hefner, missing key witness in the William Desmond Taylor murder mystery, was found today by the United Press.

Hefner is the man who former Governor Friend W. Richardson said had revealed to him the name of the person who murdered the motion picture director in February, 1922.

He is believed to be the man whom Burton Fitts, Los Angeles District Attorney, needs to complete a case.

Found by George E. Powers, a reporter for the United Press, Hefner repeated and amplified the disclosures made to the Governor and the State Prison Board secretly in 1926, which resulted in his release from Folsom penitentiary to save his life.

He Faced Danger.

These disclosures, intended by the Governor for presentation to the Los Angeles grand jury, leaked out prematurely and, in the opinion of the State Parole Board, placed Hefner in danger of assassination at the hands of the members of the dope ring in prison.

Found in civil life under another name, supporting his invalid wife and baby, Hefner told the United Press a motion picture celebrity murdered William Desmond Taylor.

Hefner said the motive for the murder came from Taylor's connection with a dope ring. He said he had heard direct threats against Taylor's life because Taylor had turned "rat" and was informing on the ring.

Also, Hefner said Edward Sands, formerly employed by Taylor, said Taylor was in trouble because of his love affairs.

Hefner, tall, lean and bronzed, asserted that since his release from Folsom penitentiary he had been attempting to reestablish himself as a good citizen.

Has Lived Straight.

"I'm still willing to go before the Los Angeles grand jury and tell what I know, to clear up this eight-year-old mystery," he said.

"I hope it can be done—if it is absolutely necessary—without subjecting my wife to humiliation, and sacrificing the place I've now won back by three years of hard work and no play. I don't want to be known as an ex-con. My new identity is clear. I've worked hard to make it so."

"I exchanged several letters with Sands at Vera Cruz after Taylor was killed," Hefner said. "He kept telling me to keep my mouth shut and never mention his name."

"Sands did not kill Taylor; I'm sure of that. I don't think he wanted to run away when he started for Mexico; I understand he was going down to arrange for more narcotic shipments."

Henry Peavey, young Negro, who was Taylor's valet after the dismissal of Sands, was quoted Saturday in an exclusive United Press dispatch as to a quarrel he said he overheard between the famous director and a person prominent in the movies.

Prophetstown Man
Out for Assembly

Mayor George S. Brydia of Prophetstown, who has been Mayor of that Whiteside county city for six consecutive terms, was in Dixon today to announce his candidacy for state representative from the 35th Senatorial district on the Republican ticket at the April primaries.

The candidacy of Mayor Brydia is the fourth in the field and makes two for Whiteside county and two for DeKalb county.

Huckins, Jr. Suffers
Nervous Breakdown

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Jan. 6.—(AP)—George E. Huckins, charged here with obtaining money under false pretenses, today lay in a local hospital suffering from a highly nervous condition. He was brought here yesterday by Sheriff Harry Manchester after having spent more than two weeks in a hotel at Excelsior Springs, Mo., where he went for his health.

Sidney Milner, Huckins' attorney, said he considered it unlikely that his client would be able to appear in court for several days due to his condition.

Extradition papers for the return of his father, Elmer S. Huckins, have been issued by Gov. Hammill and it is expected that he will be returned here within a few days.

CHIEF JUSTICE TAFT FORCED TO TAKE REST

His Weakened Physical Condition Compels A Rest

Washington, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Chief Justice Taft has been forced by a weakened condition to abruptly end his court work and go away for a rest.

The Chief Justice is in a highly nervous condition caused by a recurrence of bladder trouble which he suffered about six years ago, which then yielded to treatment.

His condition has caused worry within the inner court circle for some time.

While in a weakened physical condition due to the discharge of his exacting official duties, the Chief Justice went to Cincinnati to attend the funeral of his brother, Charles P. Taft, and overtaxed himself.

Mr. Taft returned to Washington last fall after suffering an accident at Murray Bay, which irritated his general nervous condition. He was able, however, to attend the conference of Circuit Court Judges to examine the condition of business in federal courts throughout the country and was able to attend all sessions of the court up to the recess in December.

Mr. Taft is 72 years old. He has been working hard at his task of the head of the Supreme Court, however. It is understood that Justice Van Devanter will take over his routine duties during his absence in North Carolina.

The Chief Justice has been watching his own health very closely for several years. He has placed himself upon a strict diet and has so arranged his household as to make it unnecessary for him to expend undue energy in going about.

Claims Proof Bacon
Wrote "Shakespeare"

Sacramento, Calif., Jan. 6.—(AP)—After a year of investigation in England J. Edward Morgan, until recently proprietor of a printshop in Oakland, has arrived at the conclusion that glory rightfully due Francis Bacon has been thrown to William Shakespeare by English scholars.

Also, Hefner said Edward Sands, formerly employed by Taylor, said Taylor was in trouble because of his love affairs.

Hefner, tall, lean and bronzed, asserted that since his release from Folsom penitentiary he had been attempting to reestablish himself as a good citizen.

CONGRESS GETS TO WORK AGAIN AFTER VACATION

Many Controversial Matters Are Before
Legislators

Washington, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Faced with the incomplete tariff bill, the controversy over prohibition and a host of other questions that may necessitate their remaining at work until summer, the House and Senate reconvened today after a recess over the Christmas-New Year holiday.

The tariff bill was the unfinished business in the Senate and leaders apparently were determined to press its consideration at every opportunity.

In the house, a few minutes after Speaker Longworth's gavel called the chamber to order, the appropriations committee formally reported the annual Army supply bill proposing maintenance for the next fiscal year of the present standing Army which has an enlisted strength of 118,700 men.

The House then received the resignation of Representative John Carey, for years leader in the House of the New York Tammany delegation, who has accepted appointment by Governor Roosevelt to the New York State Supreme Bench.

In 14 minutes from the time it convened, the House adjourned out of respect to the late Representative Leatherwood, Republican, Utah.

On Senate Side

In the Senate, after the Chaplain the Rev. Z. B. Phillips, had offered prayer, Senators Smoot of Utah, and Simmons of North Carolina, the rival Republican and Democratic leaders in the grueling tariff struggle, met in the center aisle and grasped hands.

The opening minutes were devoted to the receipts of miscellaneous business, including numerous petitions.

Senator Heflin of Alabama put in to the record the speech of the chairman of the Democratic meeting at Guard, and a Geodetic Survey. It has been barred by the Alabama Democratic Committee from running in the Democratic primary for that party's nomination in the next election and today he said the press had printed "garbled accounts" of the Friday meeting.

Within a few minutes the Senate adopted a resolution by Senator Reed Republican, Penna., the chairman of the Military Affairs committee, to authorize a joint congressional committee to study the pay of enlisted personnel of the Army, Navy, Coast Birmingham, Ala., last Friday. He was sent to the House without debate.

Morgan, it was announced yesterday in Stratford-on-Avon, the home of Shakespeare, is returning to the United States with what he believes is conclusive proof that Bacon has been made the scapegoat of a gigantic literary fraud.

A not unknown writer of verse himself, Morgan has for years been interested in the theory of the Baconian authorship of the plays attributed to the Bard of Avon, and his culminating investigation of the speculation led him to sell his printshop to obtain funds.

Morgan has obtained enlarged photographs of the binding and pages of the original folios, and asserts that in the very decorations, pictures and letterings of the script Bacon wrote his name many times over.

JURY FINDS CHARLES COLE, ALTO TOWNSHIP FARMER, TOOK OWN LIFE, AT INQUEST TODAY

Died At Dixon Hospital at 11 O'clock
Sunday Night

Charles Cole, residing on the Southard farm, one mile west of Steward in Alto township, passed away at Dixon hospital Sunday night at 11 o'clock, his death resulting from a gunshot wound in the left side just below the heart which shattered three ribs and tore away the lower portion of the lung.

The shooting took place in the outdoor toilet at the Cole home Saturday morning about 7:30 and he was brought to the Dixon hospital late in the afternoon.

Coroner F. M. Banker conducted an inquest over the body at the Preston mortuary this morning. Mrs. Cole and daughter Miss Grace testified that the shooting was accidental. Mrs. Cole testified that she was suffering from a headache and did not get up at 5:30 Saturday morning when her husband arose. He awoke some of the children, built the fire and appeared in his usual health. About 7:30 he told members of the family that he was going to get a rabbit and taking his double-barreled shot gun left the house. A few minutes later his daughter, Grace, heard the report of the gun and looking out of the window saw her father staggering to the house from the toilet.

Said It Was Accident.

In the statement of the daughter, she told the coroner's jury that her father came into the house and urged her to summon a physician and help, stating that he had accidentally shot himself. She summoned Dr. Bogue of Rochelle, who came and dressed the wound and then returned to Rochelle, stating that he would see the injured man again after dinner. When other members of the family arrived in response to summonses, they called Dr. Bogue back to the home and arrangements were made to remove him to a hospital.

At the conclusion of the testimony, the jury returned a verdict finding that death was due to a gun shot wound, from a .12 gauge double-barreled shotgun, self inflicted and with suicidal intent.

Cole was about 50 years of age and had resided in the vicinity of Steward in Alto township for several years. He is survived by his wife and nine children. Funeral arrangements had not been completed today, but it was expected that the body would be taken to Steward Tuesday morning for interment.

Match Factory Is
Scene Of Bad Fire

St. Louis, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Fire of an undetermined origin caused damage estimated at $500,000 to the plant of the Universal Match Co., near here.

Thousands of books of paper matches and large stocks of paper and pasteboard were destroyed and much machinery wrecked. The main building of the plant, a one-story structure 450 feet long, was destroyed.

Firemen from Ferguson, St. Louis, and University City prevented the flames from spreading to a wing of the plant where sulphur, phosphorus and other chemicals were stored.

A. H. Rosenberg, president of the Corporation, who estimated the damage said part of the loss was covered by insurance.

Plan Campaign To Get Prompter Pay

Chicago, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Expenditure of $7,000,000 in a national newspaper campaign is planned during the next two and one half years by the National Retail Credit Association, David J. Woodcock, manager-treasurer, announced today.

Through the campaign, Woodcock said, the association hopes to educate the American public to the economic necessity and credit advantages of prompt payment of bills. The campaign is to be financed by subscriptions from 200,000 members of the association.

Woodcock said the consumers and business men of the country would participate in a saving of $100,000,000 yearly if delinquent accounts could be liquidated more rapidly.

Auto Hit Concrete
Bridge: Two Dead

Robinson, Ill., Jan. 6.—(UP)—Two men are dead and a third is in a serious condition in a hospital here as a result of an automobile in which they were riding crashing into a concrete bridge abutment over a creek near here yesterday. The dead are Ralph Meabout, 28, and Randall Goodwin, 21. William Decker sustained serious injuries. Harold Harrison, the fourth member of the party, escaped injury. All reside in Robinson.

COLLEGE YOUTH, OVER-WROUGHT, SHOOTS PARENTS

"Obsession To Kill" Results In Tragedy
This Morn

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 6.—(UP)—Higher learning that beckoned to Allan R. Schumm, brilliant 17-year-old university student, as a pathway to a career of service in the medical profession, took a tragic tangent in his overwrought brain and drove him to shoot his mother and father on the last day of his holiday vacation, psychiatrists decided today.

An "obsession to kill" surged through him yesterday, young Schumm said. That obsession claimed the life of the father, William Schumm, 42, prominent lawyer and Mason, and resulted in serious injuries to Mrs. Fayette Schumm, 40, the mother.

"Do you believe in God?" the boy asked his father and mother after he had returned home at 2 A. M. from a party at the home of Miss Elsa Winkler, 16.

"Certainly," replied Schumm. "I'm a Mason, naturally I believe there is a supreme being."

"Then pray," commanded the youth.

As his parents stared at him in bewilderment, the son took a revolver from his pocket and began shooting.

Mother Seized Gun

The father fell dead. Then, as Mrs. Schumm sought to escape into a closet, her son pressed the weapon against her body and fired twice. Both bullets lodged in her hip.

She wrested the revolver from him, pulled the trigger until the chambers were emptied, and then ran to an apartment on the next floor.

Young Schumm telephoned Roy A. Burch, a family friend, and told him what he had done.

"You had better call a doctor," the youth said. "I am going now."

The youth got in his father's automobile, drove to a bridge and tossed the revolver into the Mississippi river. He drove to the Burch home where Mrs. Burch persuaded him to remain until police arrived.

Allan was graduated last spring from high school here with honors. At the University of Illinois, where young Schumm matriculated last fall, he undertook a heavy course designed to prepare him to enter the medical school.

The youth was held in the observation ward at the City Hospital after police had questioned him.

STOOD HIGH IN CLASSES

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 6.—(UP)—University of Illinois friends of Allan R. Schumm of St. Louis, knew him as a studious youth who stood high in his classes and was quiet in his manners, they said today.

Schumm lived at Newman Hall Dormitory. His brother, Arthur, a senior, lived in the adjoining room. Allan's roommate was Howard Frick of Marion, Ill.

Allan took little part in campus activities, his friends said.

Girl, 10, Lost On Prairie, Is Found

Hugo, Colo., Jan. 6.—(UP)—A 10-year-old girl who wandered aimlessly on the wind-swept prairie for more than 12 hours after becoming lost was recovering today.

Irene Pfoe left her ranch home late yesterday to search for her father's herd of cows. Night fell, and the child lost all sense of direction.

When Irene failed to return home at the accustomed time, a searching party of 25 men was organized.

Shortly after daylight Irene was discovered six miles from her home and struggling forward in the wrong direction.

She was suffering from exposure.

Promises Report On Coast Guard Liquor

New London, Conn., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Commanders of Coast Guard patrol boats and destroyers are to be questioned by Captain L. T. Chalker, Chief of Staff of the destroyer forces, on the presence on their boats of stolen liquor from the recently captured rum runner Flor Del Mar.

A full report was promised by Captain Chalker after he had admitted that liquor had been discovered on the ships. Captain G. T. Finley of the destroyer Shaw said five bottles had been found on his craft but that no arrests had been made.

The cargo of the Flor Del Mar, which was towed here in a sinking condition on Dec. 29, after the crew had escaped, was unloaded immediately. The cargo was raided and Coast Guardsmen were arrested, one of them facing a court martial last Saturday. Six cases of liquor which were concealed aboard boats have been discovered.

IMPERSONATED OFFICERS

Mel Hawkins, who operates a junk yard on state highway route 73, about three miles south of Compton, reports to Sheriff Ward Miller that his home was thoroughly searched by three men recently, who represented themselves to be deputy sheriffs seeking liquor. According to the report to the sheriff's office the trio went to Hawkins home while he was away and flourishing a piece of paper, which they claimed to be a search warrant, informed Mrs. Hawkins that they were deputy sheriffs and proceeded to search the house from basement to garret. As far as is known, nothing was taken and it is the first time to come to Sheriff Miller's attention in which the county officers have been impersonated.

REDUCTION OF POLICE FORCE SEEN IN RECORD

Blotter Shows a Total of 85 Crimes In Metropolis

Chicago, Jan. 6.—(UP)—Hoodlums took advantage of the 500 loss in manpower in the police department over the week-end and set a new record for crime, a survey of the police blotter showed today.

Records of murders, shooting, holdups and stabbing was almost double that of the Christmas crime wave, which police always count the highlight of the crime year. The blotter showed 85 crimes since Saturday morning, when the police force was cut 473 by the new reduced budget for 1930. Over Christmas 47 crimes were written into the record.

The week-end crime list was divided into two murders, 67 holdups, 12 shootings and four stabblings.

The second murder and latest occurred today when Antonucci, 45-year-old Italian, was shot to death in front of a southside garage as he drove to work. His wife said they recently had been warned that unless they complied with extortion demands Antonucci would be killed.

Judge Francis Borrelli of the speeders court announced today that he will aid the reduced police force by sentencing to jail all intoxicated and hit and run drivers convicted in his court.

"I'll give them the same consideration that they give their victims—none," Judge Borrelli said.

Meanwhile, Albert W. Goodrich, veteran Fire Commissioner, supervised the reduction of the fire department by 250 men so he could keep in the new budget. Goodrich fought against the cut over the week-end but finally gave in when informed by the Corporation Council that he had no choice in the matter.

CONTINUE HUNT FOR BODIES OF
CRASH VICTIMS

Fear They Have Been Washed Out Of Airplane Cabins

Santa Monica, Cal., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Searchers hoped today to be able to resume their efforts to bring to the surface the wreckage of two motion picture camera planes believed to contain the bodies of seven of the ten men who died in a mid-air collision over the ocean off point Saint Vicente last Thursday.

Bodies of three of the dead were recovered immediately after the crash.

Fear that some of the bodies may have been washed out of the wrecked cabins was expressed after Charles E. Smale, a diver, went to the bottom in 60 feet of water, where the plane had been dragged by a trawler, and reported that he could find no bodies. He said the cabin was so badly entangled, however, that several bodies might still be found in the area directly astern of the engine.

Plans to send Smale to the bottom again yesterday were balked by stormy seas.

The second plane also was located Saturday and dragged within 100 feet of the surface, but was lost when a line broke.

Bodies of the seven crash victims still missing include those of Kenneth Hawks, film director, husband of Mary Astor, screen actress; George Eastman, cameraman; Otto Jordan, assistant cameraman; Tom Harris, property man; Henry Johannes, property man; and Ross Cook and Hallock Rouse, pilots of the ill-fated crafts. The bodies of Max Gold, Conrad Wells and Ben Frankel, all film workers, were recovered.

No inquest will be held until other bodies have been recovered or until the search has been abandoned.

Wales' Ship Battles
Buffeting Storms

S. S. Kenilworth Castle, Jan. 6.—(AP)—This ship has suffered such a buffeting by storms since leaving Southampton last week for South Africa that all passengers, the Prince of Wales included, have had to remain below decks.

The Prince, in addition, has been bothered by a recent inoculation against malaria. Arrival at Madagascara probably will be late.

Husband, Brother
Held For Bombing

Seat Pleasant, Maryland, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Herman Brady, whose wife, Naomi Mall Brady, was killed by a bomb sent to her in the wrapping of a Christmas present, was held today with his brother, LeRoy Brady, by police investigating the tragedy.

The authorities declined to divulge the purpose of their detention, but it was learned that they had been confined to the jail at Upper Marlboro after several hours of rigorous cross-examination.

Meanwhile, the police made known that an uncle of the two men, Clarence W. Brady, who was arrested on Friday, had convinced them that he was not implicated in the bombing outrage. The latter was closely questioned as to his relations with the dead woman, particularly with respect to assertions that he had sought to marry her, before she became the wife of his nephew.

It was understood that he had intimidated that Herman and LeRoy Brady might have had a part in the sending of the bomb, and that the two were questioned and held as a result.

DIXON PEOPLE FIGURE IN AUTO WRECK IN SOUTH

Man Who Crashed Into
Tim Sullivan's Car
Fatally Hurt

The following from the Cocoa, Fla. Tribune of Jan. 2, tells of an automobile accident in which Mr. and Mrs. Tim Sullivan and Miss M. M. Winter of Dixon figured on Christmas Day, in which E. R. Golightly, driver of a truck which crashed into the Dixons' sedan, suffered injuries which proved fatal.

E. R. Golightly, of Titusville, well known in Cocoa, died in an Orlando hospital on Christmas eve night, following an accident that afternoon about 3 o'clock, when the light Ford truck driven by him, while he was enroute from Cocoa to Titusville, crashed head on into a Buick sedan driven by Tim Sullivan, of Dixon, Illinois, and occupied by his wife, and sister, Miss M. M. Winter, also of Dixon, near Bellewood, about 10 miles north of Cocoa. Miss Winter was injured in the crash, having sustained cuts and bruises from flying glass when she was thrown through the windshield. She was brought to Cocoa where her injuries were treated by physicians. Her condition has improved and she is getting along all right now. Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan and Miss Winter are stopping at the Cocoa House this week, while Miss Winter is recovering from her injuries. The Buick car was damaged extensively, the engine and front end being demolished.

A coroner's jury empaneled to investigate the death of Golightly and place the blame returned a verdict that the wreck was unavoidable.

The truck driven by Golightly is said to have crashed head on into the Buick sedan. Nothing is known about the

Asked For "Works".
Got 'Em And How

Chicago, Jan. 6.—(UP)—Hearing that vice was rampant on South State Street, the Rev. O. G. Davis, field secretary of the Illinois Vigilance Association, fared forth to track it to its lair.
As he approached the district, he reeled to simulate a drunken man's gait. Two Negroes stepped up to ask if he had a drink.
"No, I haven't," Davis replied. "Do you know where I can get one?"
"Sure, and a girl, too," answered one of the Negroes.
"I'll take the whole works," agreed the minister.
The Negroes led him into a hallway and gave him "the whole works," strong armful and taking $40. A policeman loaned the minister a dollar so he could get home.

Officer Kidnaped
By Three Robbers

Marion, Ill., Jan. 6.—(UP)—L. A. Sizemore, Carbondale policeman was the victim of three highwaymen who kidnaped him at midnight last night after he had caught them burglarizing a residence.
The burglars discovered Sizemore before he could draw his revolver, and at the point of guns forced him into their car saying, "we'll show these Carbondale police a trick or two." Sizemore was driven twenty miles north towards Duquoin before he was released unharmed. He telephoned from Duquoin for aid in returning to Carbondale.

Played Sax Freely,
Finds It Stolen

Hammond, Ind., Jan. 6.—(UP)—N. E. Kundrat's faith in human nature was shaken sadly today.
Returning home from church, he found his Christmas saxophone missing and reported it to police. He said he had tried to enliven his fellow rooming house lodgers with a little music.
When the desk sergeant asked how much he played, Kundrat replied, "Maybe three or four hours a day."
The sergeant said he might find the saxophone if Kundrat promised his fellow lodgers he would reduce his hours of practice.

Custom Agent Faces
Charge Of Drinking

Providence, R. I., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Investigation into reports of drunkenness and brandishing of guns by Edward F. Foley, 64-year-old Customs Agent who was guarding the rum runner Black Duck at Pawtuxet Cove, has brought his suspension by W. W. Lufkin, Collector of Customs at the Port of Boston.
The Black Duck, on which three men were killed by Coast Guardsmen on Dec. 29, now is being guarded by four agents on six hour shifts. The boat's liquor cargo was removed Friday.
Lufkin said Foley had admitted drinking. He said Foley admitted having called the Boston customs office saying he was being attacked and needed reinforcements. Three other men were questioned.
Herman Hornel, surveyor of customs, said he believed Foley had been "framed."

Weather Holds Up
Search For Fliers

Fairbanks, Alaska, Jan. 6.—(AP)—With the loss of another plane and three men to add to their worries, the searchers for Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, whose plane disappeared Nov. 9, today were held at a standstill by adverse fortune and fierce Arctic storms.
Three powerful cabin planes, rushed here from Seattle and put at the disposal of Arctic-hardened Canadian pilots, were down—one wrecked, one apparently lost and the other weather bound at Nulato, half way point between here and Nome.
Two open cockpit planes operated by pilots Joe Crosson and Harold Gillman, American fliers, who managed to reach North Cape, Siberia, from Nome recently, were held down because the weather of north-eastern Siberia made flying impossible.
Eielson and Borland disappeared while flying from Teller to the fur trading ship Nanuk, frozen in the ice near North Cape.

New Golf Pro For
Rockford Course

Rockford, Ill., Jan. 6.—(UP)—George A. Koob, 32, of St. Louis, golf professional at the Pontiac Country Club for the last seven years, today was named pro at Mauch-Mah-Tee-See Country club of Rockford. He twice won the municipal title in St. Louis and has been a prominent contender in Western Open championships. He will report here April 1, succeeding Sidney Baxter, of Los Angeles, who has gone to the Philippines.

Robbers Load Bank
Vault Into Truck

Minco, Okla., Jan. 6.—(UP)—Machine gun bandits, who worked three hours with blow torches on the safe of the First National Bank here early today without results, loaded the vault on a truck, held off a crowd of citizens with the machine gun and fled.
The safe contained approximately $4000.
The bandit gang was composed of at least four men.

SUPPLY BILL OF
WAR DEPT. SENT TO LOWER HOUSE

An Appropriation Of $435,231,000 For
Year Is Asked

Washington, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Lacking definite conclusions from President Hoover's economical survey of the War Department, the House appropriations committee today reported the supply bill for the fiscal year 1931 for that executive branch calling for an expenditure of $435,231,000, an increase of $442,000 over the current fiscal year.

With the idea that economies may be effected through the survey, however, the committee wrote into the bill a provision that would prevent the usage of any of the money appropriated for any other purpose in the event that President Hoover decides upon curtailment of the activities provided for in the measure.

Although carrying an increased appropriation, the supply bill is $2,767,000 less than the budget estimates. It sets aside $337,058,000 for military purposes, an increase of $6,019,000 over the current year, and $117,173,000 for non-military activities (including the Panama Canal. A decrease of $5,577,000 as compared with 1930.

The permanent appropriations amount to $9,627,000 of which $1,375,000 is for military purposes, and $8,252,000 is for non-military activities with this, the total outlay for the next fiscal year is brought to $463,858,000.

The reduction in the budget estimates partially was effected by curtailing the appropriation for the Army housing program to the extent of $2,000,000.

GIVEN SIX MONTHS
Peoria, Ill., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Glen Hauge, who pleaded guilty to a charge of smuggling saws into the county jail last week in an attempted jail break, today was sentenced to serve six months on the state penitentiary at Joliet.

MYSTERY TORCH
MURDER OF RUM
RUNNER SUNDAY

Body of Young Man Found Aflame In His Automobile

Chicago, Jan. 6.—(UP)—A gangland torch murder gave police another problem in crime to solve today and their principal clues were some smoke blackened keys, a handful of brass buttons, a man's cap and an automobile engine number.

The victim, a man about 25, had been shot through the head and beaten across the face with a heavy object before being thrust half inside his car, saturated with a can of his own alcohol and burned to death.

A desperate battle had preceded the murder, police deduced from a trail of blood that extended for several feet back of the car, which was standing on a lonely road two miles east of Steger. The body was still blazing furiously yesterday when Sgt. Henry Seigel and Deputy Sheriff Walter Remillard of the Highway Police drove up. They had seen the glare a half mile away.

As the fire died down and the officers were able to get into the car, they discovered eight five gallon alcohol cans inside.

Three Children Met
Death In Holocaust

Conneaut, O., Jan. 6.—(UP)—Mrs. James Scribner fought smoke and flames to reach her five children trapped in their burning home here today, but only two survived. Florence, 5, was found under the kitchen sink by firemen. Josephine, 3, and Alva, three months, died later in a hospital of their burns after their mother had carried them from their bed out of the burning house.

Thomas, 13, and Martin, 6, jumped from a second story window and were saved.

Mrs. Scribner is in a hospital here suffering from shock. An overheated coal stove was believed the cause of the fire.

U. S. Minister To
Costa Rica Quits

Washington, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Arthur Schoenfeld, recently appointed Minister to Costa Rica, has resigned from the diplomatic service.

The resignation was announced today by Under-Secretary Cotton who said that the Department regretted losing Mr. Schoenfeld but hoped that he would later return to the service.

Schoenfeld until recently was general secretary of the Bolivia-Paraguay Commission, and previously was Minister to Bulgaria.

Mr. Schoenfeld, who is at present in New York City, plans to enter business.

Investigate Story
Of St. Louis Dog

St. Louis, Jan. 6.—(UP)—Sydney H. Coleman, president of the American Humane Society, was here today to investigate the "sawed dog" mystery.

Coleman, a friend of Robert F. Sellar, secretary of the Missouri Humane Society, arrived last night from Albany, N. Y., and will end his aid to efforts to corroborate Sellar's story of finding a mistreated terrier, killing it, and leaving the body at a garbage disposal field.

Efforts to verify Sellar's story so far have failed, as the secretary said he was alone when he found the puppy and disposed of it. A reward of $500 to the woman who first reported seeing the "sick dog" still went unclaimed today.

Meanwhile a reward fund for arrest of the alleged perpetrator arose above $3,000 as dog lovers continued to mail in checks, saying they had faith in Sellar's story. No trace of the dog's body has been found.

Film Cowboy Held
On Liquor Charges

Nogales, Ariz., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Art Acord, film cowboy, today was in jail here awaiting return to Los Angeles to face trial on charges of liquor possession.

Acord was arrested last night by Robert E. Ferguson, an operative for a surety company that posted bond for the actor's release from jail following his arrest several weeks ago.

Ferguson said when he found Acord in a local hotel the movie cowboy drew a knife and forced the officer into a closet. Acord then crashed through a window and was about to drop to the ground when he was nabbed by a deputy sheriff.

Female Bandit In
Texas Bank Holdup

Brady, Tex., Jan. 6.—(UP)—Two bandits, one of them believed to have been a woman, held up the Lohm State Bank at Lohm, 12 miles north of here, today and escaped with $1,554 in silver and currency.

CHICAGO FIRE,
POLICE DEPTS.
ARE CRIPPLED

Slash In Budget Has Compelled Force Reductions

Chicago, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Two further results of Chicago's financial imbroglio were witnessed today.

One was the discharge of nearly 300 firemen and the retirement of three fire trucks—leaving the lake and river fronts without off-shore protection.

The other was what Police Commissioner Russell termed an increase in crime since the discharge last week of nearly 500 policemen, necessitated, the Commissioner asserted, by the seven percent slash in police funds under the 1930 budget.

In the meantime, however, Mayor William Hale Thompson, whose forces in the City Council opposed five million dollar decrease in the budget, has given intimation that he may invoke legal technicalities to restore the police and fire department manpower.

Corporation Counsel Ettelson was preparing today an opinion on the legality of the appropriations for the two departments.

In the event the opinion construes them illegal, Mayor Thompson is expected to veto both appropriations and submit substitute measures to the council that will allow retention of the 1929 forces in both the police and fire departments.

Alderman Clark, chairman of the Finance committee of the council, said last night that if Mayor Thompson vetoes the appropriations, there would be no alternative but to pass emergency measures.

"But if these two appropriations were construed as illegal," the Alderman said, "I believe it would be necessary to find the whole budget at fault."

U. S. DELEGATES TO NAVY PARLEY
SAIL THURSDAY

Washington, Jan. 6.—(UP)—The first great test of President Hoover's foreign policy begins this week when the American delegation to the London naval conference sails aboard the George Washington.

Months before his inauguration last March, Mr. Hoover set in motion three major projects of foreign policy. He first became his own ambassador of good will on a tour of South and Central America. Then at his suggestion the World court question, abandoned by President Coolidge was revived and Elihu Root went abroad on a court mission.

The third of these projects dealt with naval armaments in which world wide competition was considered a menace to peace. Despite the rebuff to President Coolidge when British recalcitrance scuttled the 1927 Geneva conference, Mr. Hoover determined before his election to resume the quest of international agreement to stop the naval armaments race.

Long experience with the League of Nations preliminary disarmament conference convinced American officials the path to quick achievement lay elsewhere.

Anglo-American conversations began almost immediately after Charles G. Dawes sailed to London, as American Ambassador. As the situation developed it appeared desirable to accept the American judgment that speediest action could be obtained by a conference outside League auspices.

After months of Anglo-American discussion, a tentative basis of agreement was reached. Great Britain invited Japan, France and Italy to join herself and the United States in a naval conference to meet in London Jan. 21. The American delegation will sail Thursday aboard the George Washington.

The second victim was Fred Gill, 48, found in Dearborn with a bullet hole between the eyes.

Mrs. Gill, Jack Bell, 39, and William Green, 22, were held for questioning.

Lindy Inspects His Secretly Built Ship

Los Angeles, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was here today to inspect his new, secretly built monoplane, which was built to "stay up all night."

That was the way Lindbergh described it yesterday when asked the reason for its unusually large fuel tanks, which hold 450 gallons of gasoline. For want of a better name the new plane had been dubbed "The Flying Gas Tank."

Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh arrived yesterday from Kingman, Ariz., completing a leisurely transcontinental flight. Colonel Lindbergh inspected fields and equipment of the Transcontinental Air Transport Lines en route.

War Mothers in Regular Meeting

The Lee County War Mothers met in regular session Friday, and the president called the meeting to order.

The flags were escorted and placed by the flag bearers and color guards and the Star Spangled Banner was sung as the colors were placed. The Chaplain led in the devotions. The secretary's and treasurer's report was given and placed on file. Communications were read from the state hospital chairman, from the state president and from a Polo boy at Camp Custer in thanks for Christmas gifts for the Lee County order. Bills were read and allowed. A suggestion was made that the mothers call at the home of deceased mothers and ask if the family would like War Mothers burial service read. A birthday tea was then held and the Chaplain closed the meeting. Jan. 17th a picnic dinner will be held in G. A. R. hall, honoring mothers whose birthdays occur in December and January.

Bide-a-Wee Club Was Entertained

The members of the Bide-a-Wee club held a very pleasant meeting Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Frank Wilson, 1318 Third street. The home was decorated for the Yuletide and the Christmas tree was beautifully trimmed and illuminated.
Bridge was enjoyed during the afternoon. Mrs. Roy Scott was awarded the favor for high honors and Mrs. C. W. Pease received the consolation favor.
A tempting luncheon was a feature of the happy afternoon.

Rome Opens Heart To Princess Marie

BY THOMAS MORGAN
United Press Staff Correspondent
Rome, Jan. 6.—(UP)—"Rome opens its great heart to you," read the inscription of the magnificent triumphal arch through which the little blonde Princess, Marie Jose of Belgium, entered the Eternal City, to become the bride Wednesday of Crown Prince Humbert.

Today, after a night's sleep in the Quirinal Palace where, in the natural course of events, she will some day be mistress, Marie Jose discovered that not only Rome but all Italy had taken her to its heart. In the public interest attached to Marie, all in white, the mere fact that kings and queens and nobility from half the nations of Europe were arriving in Rome throughout the day paled into insignificance. Marie Jose was the center of attraction. The reception was all hers.

In her honor the King of Italy announced today the establishment of a fund of 500,000 lire, to be turned over to Count Ludovico Boncompagni, Governor of Rome, the interest on which is to be given to brides not as fortunate as Marie Jose—brides who have no dowries.

In her honor Rome produced one of the most gorgeous military pageants of modern times, a pageant that drew the whole population to the streets or rooftops until every square and every house appeared black with humans.

Ten thousand troops were lined along the mile and a quarter road from the station to the Quirinal to guard Marie and the rest of the Belgian royal party.
Keeping to her plan as the traditional "white bride," Marie Jose was easily distinguished from the royal group by her white coat, her white fox collar, and an enormous bouquet of white orchids.

Hillside Community Club in Meeting

The Hillside Community club enjoyed a most delightful evening Friday, Jan. 3rd, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Sanders, north of Franklin Grove. Fifty-five were present. An oyster supper was enjoyed by all in connection with the picnic supper. The next meeting will be held Feb. 7 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Miller.

IDEAL CLUB WILL MEET ON WEDNESDAY—

The Ideal Club will meet with Mrs. Lola Porter, 204 E. Boyd street Wednesday afternoon.

Methodist W. F. M. S. Meeting Thursday

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Church met Thursday afternoon, Jan. 2nd, at the home of Mrs. J. M. Lund. The year hymn of the society, "The Church's One Foundation is Jesus Christ her Lord," was sung for the opening and the year text, "We are laborers together with God," recited in concert.

"The Door of Opportunity" was the subject of the devotional service conducted by Mrs. D. C. Leake. A call to each auxiliary, Rev. 3:8, "Behold I have set before thee an open door. The world must be won for Jesus Christ."

The Hymn of Service, "I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord," was sung.
Mrs. Maude Hobbs told of the plan in regard to the new mite boxes, to be called "might" boxes, and read the following poem from the Missionary Friend:

Our W. F. M. S. this year
Will try another plan.
We'll use the mite box for our work
And put in all we can.
Each Sabbath morn we're asked to place

Within its tiny walls
An offering—not a little mite—
To meet our many calls.

This is a business merger, too.
Combining one with three.
The Patron's Gift, Educational Fund, Incense and Mite-box. See?
Now if you work this with your might

And with your prayers most true,
This might box will hold blessings rare.

For others and for you.
There will be two mite-box openings this year, in April and August.

The Cor. Secretary, Mrs. Clara Rowe, read a letter from Marguerite English, Evangelistic missionary in Pyeng Yang, Korea, where our local society supports a National Bible woman.

The program included a carefully prepared review of Chapter 3 of the study book, "From Jerusalem to Jerusalem," by Miss Flora Seals, the topic being, "The Winning of Europe to Christ." Women's part in this task of spreading the Gospel was clearly shown.

A few of the interesting facts presented were these:
When Paul saw his vision, twenty-one years after the Crucifixion of Jesus, and received the call to "Come over into Macedonia and help us," one of the turning points in history was reached and by his response to the vision a new era was ushered in. Paul's first convert in Europe was Lydia, a business woman and the first church founded by Paul was a Missionary Church. In fifty years all of the seven kingdoms of England were won for Christ and she was the most influential factor in the winning of the rest of Europe.

During the seventh and eighth centuries more missionaries were sent out from England to labor on the continent than go today from England to foreign fields. It took more than a thousand years to displace heathenism in Europe, yet people are sometimes impatient over the slow progress of missions.

Miss Seals showed a chart, which she had prepared, making clear the growth of Christianity, beginning at Jerusalem.

It took Christianity
1000 years to gain the 1st 100,000 converts.
500 years to gain the 2nd 100,000 converts.
250 years to gain the 3rd 100,000 converts.
100 years to gain the 4th 100,000 converts.
79 years to gain the last 200,000,000 converts.

Total in 1929 years—600,000,000.
At the close of the program a social hour was enjoyed during which dainty refreshments were served by the ladies of Unit No. 4. Miss Besse Decker, chairman. One new member, Mrs. T. L. Stokes was received.

The February meeting will be held with Mrs. F. X. Newcomer and the annual Thank-Offering will be observed Sunday, March 16th.

BAPTIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY WILL MEET—

The Missionary Society of the Baptist church will meet with Mrs. Ray Miller, 204 W. Everett st., Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

YOUR CHILDREN

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
© 1930 BY NEA SERVICE INC.

I love the direct look of little children.

When they lose it, when they begin to look from side to side, or down at the floor, or up at the ceiling, certainly the angels are weeping in Heaven.

Whatever we do, we should try to preserve that straight clear gaze of children's eyes into ours.
When we set ourselves up as judges, will that look hold? If we pretend to be crushed, brokenhearted, inconsolable over some childish misdemeanor, will it hold? If we turn into furies with breaths of fire and vengeance, will those trusting young eyes continue to gaze into ours with frank courage and confidence? Certainly not.

Just about the biggest job on earth is to make friends and keep friends with our own little children. When I see a mother or a father with children who stand up and talk to them fearlessly and trustingly with that honest, straightforward look that only exists between friends, I know the whole story. No fear or breach of confidence there.

Put Gloom to Rout

That is why I think it is an excellent plan for parents to learn to control not only their tongues but the expression of their faces. Children don't turn from a smile. I believe we underestimate the value of a smile on little children, and older children, too, for that matter.
I know—we are beset by worries, we become over-tired, the work is too much for us, debts prey, we can't see a clear way ahead, and it's the very hardest thing on earth to keep the corners of our mouths turned up, and the rasp and hardness out of our voices.

But why take it out on the children? They won't understand. They see the frown and hear the worried voices and unconsciously they absorb the idea that they are the cause of our troubles.

It's too bad that little children are so sensitive and self-conscious, but they are. They get the idea every time they see an unpleasant expression on their mother's face, that they have caused it.

Try to Appear Happy

Of course there are times when things go wrong that we must be serious with them. That's to be expected. But so often we look fierce, or gloomy, or unhappy, or worried, for other reasons.

For the children's sake, and to encourage their confidence and trust—in other words, to cherish that direct look of happiness and love, can't we control our expressions more than we do?

It is a strange truth that the most obedient children usually have parents of cheerful and brave dispositions.
Cheerfulness is an intense motivating power in this world. Let's smile at the children and have them smile back, even when trouble looms.

It's all so worthwhile. Smiles become a habit after a while. They cost nothing but a little trouble. And then, once mastered, watch for the difference in the children.

Will Dedicate St. Anne's Hall Soon

The parishioners of St. Anne's Catholic church are much interested in the dedication of St. Anne's new hall which is just being finished and which will be dedicated with a bazaar in the hall on the evenings of Feb. 12th, 13th, 14th and 15th. This will be a delightful event anticipated with much interest.

Eighty-third Birthday Was Honored

William Whitebread Sr., who is making his home this winter with his granddaughter, Mrs. Orville Albright of Third street, was completely surprised Thursday evening in honor of his eighty-third birthday, when members of the families of his eldest son Charles, and their families met at the Albright home at 6:30 for an oyster supper. The table decorations were in pink and white flowers and a tempting birthday cake.

After the supper the evening was spent in playing cards in which Mr. Whitebread, the guest of honor, was the winning player. "Grandpa" Whitebread enlisted in the Civil War and was given his discharge just the day before he was 21 years of age. He served three years in the army, eighteen months of which were in active service on the battlefields.

At a late hour all departed for their homes, wishing the guest of honor more happy birthdays and voiced their pleasure in the pleasant evening.

Enjoyable Party Held in Nelson

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ferlich delightfully entertained a number of friends at their home in Nelson Wednesday evening, the evening being spent in playing progressive "500". Glen Boos of Dixon won the first honors and Mrs. Lee Boos of Dixon held low score. After the card games refreshments were served by the hostess. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Hand of Hume, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Ferlich of La Crosse, Wis., Mr. and Mrs. Glen Boos and daughter Dorothy, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Boos, son Richard and daughter Olive, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Ferlich, Henry Ferlich and Mrs. Bessie Gale.

UNITY GUILD TO MEET ON THURSDAY—

An all-day meeting of the Unity Guild will be held with Mrs. Charles Herrick, 810 Second street, Thursday.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"God" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 5.

The Golden Text was, "Who is so great a God as our God?" (Psalms 77:13).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Great is the Lord, and greatly to be praised; and his greatness is unsearchable. Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and thy dominion endureth throughout all generations. The Lord is high unto all them that call upon him, to all that call upon him in truth" (Psalms 145:3, 13, 18).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "To grasp the reality and order of being in Science, you must begin by reckoning God as the divine Principle of all that really is. Spirit, Life, Truth, Love, combine as one, and are the Scriptural names for God. All substance, intelligence, wisdom, being, immortality, cause, and effect belong to God" (p. 275).

Winter Swept Into Pacific Northwest

Portland, Ore., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Swept over the cascade Mountains from the east by a cold wind, rain and snow today combined to give the Pacific northwest, its first taste of real winter and in southern Oregon tore down miles of telegraph and telephone lines, interrupted rail and stage traffic and spread a blanket of snow over the highlands.

Scattered reports indicated the district between Glendale and Grants Pass, Ore., suffered the brunt of the storm.

Southern Washington cities reported a complete change of weather. Spring like weather prevailed in Walla Walla, and the Yakima valleys Saturday, but overnight changed to wintry conditions, which held over to today.

Probe Murder Of American Worker

Nairobi, Kenya Colony, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Kenya Colony police today pressed investigation of the death of Miss Hulda Stumpf, American missionary, whose body was found in a house of the African Island Mission station at Kujabe, 50 miles away. She is believed to have been murdered.
There was evidence the woman had been assaulted. Authorities said she apparently had suffocated after the attack. They believe her assailant to have been a native. Search for him in nearby villages has been instituted. Her age was given here at 63.

Confesses Murder Of Wife, Parents

Ogden, Utah, Jan. 6.—(UP)—Delbert Green, 20, captured at his home here last night, confessed to police that he murdered his wife and her parents at Layton, Utah, early Sunday.
The triple murder, Green said, occurred after he and his wife had quarreled at their home here and the wife had left him to return to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Green.
Green said that after slaying the trio he had intended to commit suicide but that the gun he used jammed.

Grief Over Death Of Friend Is Fatal

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 6.—(UP)—Miss Catherine Mitchell, 60, grief-stricken over the death of her friend, Mrs. Mary Sheehy, 82, a widow whom she had known for many years, visited the undertaking parlor to view the body of her friend yesterday.
Shaking with emotion, she fainted as she stood gazing into the casket. She died an hour later.
An autopsy showed death was due to a heart attack, aggravated by the grief and emotion.

THE FAILURE'S VICTORY.

The success story continues to be our most popular American institution.

Magazines, books and newspapers are full of stories telling how this and that errand boy rose to be president of such a corporation; and the implied moral, of course, is always, "Go thou and do likewise."

So we have a cult of success. To fit one's life to a planned campaign, and—above all—to follow this campaign through to victory; this seems, to all of us, the greatest good possible.

This makes us all ambitious, and probably has a very good effect. But it tends to make us forget that it is perfectly possible for a man to fail, utterly, in the task he sets himself and still win a great victory.

There are failures, in other words, that are not failures at all.

A good example of this is being provided now in the nation-wide campaign to raise funds to buy the Virginia birthplace of Robert E. Lee and turn it into a national shrine, similar to Mount Vernon.

This man Lee, judged by all our ordinary standards, was a failure.

He dedicated himself to a definite plan—establishing the independence of the southern Confederacy.

He failed. For four dreadful years he did everything that a man could do to gain his end, and did it superlatively well. But it was no use. Success simply wasn't in the cards. At the end the Confederacy had become only a bright dream, and Lee—on the surface of things—was a beaten man, with everything that he had fought for battered down in the dust.

Yet today, more than half a century later, we are buying Lee's very birthplace for a national shrine; indicating, thereby, that by common consent we have enrolled him among our immortals.

How does this happen? We don't ordinarily, erect memorials to failures. What was there about Lee that makes an exception of him?

Simply this: his failure was more magnificent than most successes. Losing everything that he fought for, he proved once more that what a man is is more important than what he accomplishes.

For it is not merely because Lee was one of the great strategists of all history that we are honoring his memory. He was a great man as well; and if you will study his life you will find yourself, in the end, admiring the man more than the soldier.

Success, in other words, is not as important as we imagine. There is a way of life, a system of living, that outshines it. If a man shapes his life to the right pattern, it doesn't make much difference whether he wins success or failure in the common sense of those words. He can be defeated a thousand times over and still rise above most victors.

THE SUBMARINE'S USEFULNESS.

Submarines, evidently, will play a big part in the coming naval conference at London. England and the United States would abolish them; France and Japan want to keep them. It will take much patient negotiating to reconcile these divergent views.

We are inclined to wonder, now and then, if the importance of the submarine as a naval weapon is not exaggerated. In the World War Germany's submarines clamped a tight blockade on England; but, in the end, England and America found a way to cope with them. The submarine menace steadily diminished from the summer of 1917 on.

We have a notion that in any future war the submarine will be found a less efficient weapon than many people suppose.

Man's origin is put back 50,000,000 years by Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn. And doubtless there are times when all of us feel that old.

By the way, what ever happened to that fellow who started out in spring with the avowed intention of curing his slice?

Herr Fritz von Opel has arrived in New York and says he will develop an airplane that will fly 2000 miles an hour. Even then the fellow who takes his family out for a Sunday drive won't be satisfied.

While Mister Bear kept riding 'round and making snow tracks on the ground, his owner kept right after him a-shouting. "Hey, there, stop! The wheels will slip in that deep snow and, if they do, right down you'll go. Don't ask for sympathy from me if you do take a flop."

The Times, still behind a tree, decided they could safely be right out where they could plainly watch the very funny chase. "Come on," said Scouty, as he ran. "I think we can help the man catch Mister Bear. We might as well join in this funny race."

So, out they scampered, one by one, to take part in the thrilling fun. The bear man, saw the happy lads and shouted, "Hi, there, boys. Please help me make my big bear stop. Excite him so he'll take a flop. Perhaps he'll get befuddled if you make a lot of noise."

"You bet we will," one Tiny cried.

"We'll gladly help you end his ride. We want the bike because it's ours. 'Twas good old Santa's gift. Your bear is riding 'round in play, but we must soon be on our way. In order that we get the bike, we'll gladly give a life."

But, ere they had a chance to run the big bear stopped. His trip was done. His master ran first up to him and caught him by the nose. "I ought to spank you now," said he, "but if you'll do some stunts for me I'll let you go. Please do the sort of tricks you do in shows."

The bear said, "Anything you like!" And soon hopped right back on the bike. He then did very funny tricks. The whole bunch laughed in glee. Said Clowny, "Goodness, he is good. I never really thought he would do tricks like that. Why, honestly, he's far better, than me."

Daily Health Talk

USE FOR YOUR BIRTHDAY
By The Director of Publicity
Gorgas Memorial Institute,
Washington, D. C.

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Institute are at 1331 G. Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

General Gorgas said "America can be freed of preventable diseases." If everyone would follow his advice it would go a long way toward making the Country healthier.

Man deteriorates after maturity. The reason is chiefly disease—the diseases of middle age like diabetes and heart trouble. Bright's disease, hardening of the arteries cancer and nervous disorders. Out of every 100 of us heart disease kills 23, apoplexy 12, kidney trouble 12, cancer 10, tuberculosis 4—61 per cent of us before our time, of preventable diseases.

Medical science is capable of preventing or stopping or slowing down the effects of this great two-thirds of the ills that conquer us but our slogan seems to be "Millions for pills and repairs but not a cent for preventive advice." It is a possibility to lengthen life 5 to 10 or even 15 years and not only to make it longer but to make it far happier and better. It is not legislation that is needed but intelligent use of the opportunities that are always within our reach; and the health audit is the way each individual can take action.

By health audit I mean an annual visit to the family doctor to get an examination that takes about an hour. If special tests are needed for our lungs, or hearts or other complicated apparatus it is his business to see that we get them, to tell us where to get them, to receive and study the reports of those tests, even to arrange the expense so that the only bill we pay is to him. Health charts are available for his use to guide him in checking all the intricate parts of us that may cause trouble.

The doctor who refuses to examine an apparently healthy man on the claim that he is too busy, but simply puts him on the back with an affection of heartiness and tells him that he never saw a healthier man, is in danger of becoming a mere emergency man to be called when something breaks; and any doctor who is content to do the second-rate job of making people well if he is asked to do the better job of keeping them well, is missing a great opportunity for human service.

We are not old-fashioned enough to forget our birthdays and try to hide our years to the amusement of our friends and the delusion of our own minds. So I make this suggestion: that since health is our most valuable personal possession and the greatest asset of the nation we prove ourselves better citizens and better fathers and mothers of the generations that are to follow by making each birthday our annual reminder that a periodic physical examination the annual health audit, means longer life, happier life, better life.

NEW MEXICO ADMITTED

On Jan. 6, 1912, New Mexico was admitted to the Union.

Although the state legislature was strongly Republican, the first governor to be elected was a Democrat, William C. McDonald. He was elected by a coalition of Democratic and progressive Republican voters.

The legislature, on March 12, 1912, elected Albert B. Fall and Thomas B. Catron United States senators. Senator Fall drew the short term (one year), but at the end of that time he was elected to succeed himself.

Two years later, three constitutional amendments were carried—one reducing the terms of county and state officials from four to two years, another permitting such officials to succeed themselves and the third eliminating the state board of equalization and repealing the clause on taxation.

Gang Manhandled Member Coast Guard

New London, Conn., Jan. 4.—(UP)—A gang of six or seven men waylaid a Coast Guardsman near the railroad tracks today and severely beat him. But the guardsman, whose name was not learned, was not seriously injured.

Commander L. T. Chalker, Commandant at the Coast Guard base, said the gang presumably thought the seaman attacked was a member of the crew of the CG-290 who fired upon rum runners in Narragansett Bay last Sunday, killing three and wounding a fourth.

Donnellson State Bank Closes Door

Donnellson, Ill., Jan. 4.—(UP)—The State Bank of Donnellson failed to open its doors today. Frozen assets were blamed for the banks suspension. The bank's capital is $30,000 and deposits total $125,000. C. F. and F. E. Mansfield are president and cashier of the bank respectively.

Dispute By Truck Men Ends Fatally

Chicago, Jan. 4.—(UP)—A dispute between three truckmen and a street car supervisor over their truck blocking a street car track resulted in the supervisor's death here today.

Fred Dirgel and Sarroll Henderson, Peoria, Ill., and Harry Masey, El Paso, Ill., were driving their trucks leisurely along a street car when a car attempted to pass. William Vovrub, car line inspector, jumped on the running board of their truck to argue with them. The wheels swerved and he fell to the ground where he was crushed to death.

The truckmen, driving a machine of the Peoria Truck Co., were held while police decided whether to charge them with manslaughter or murder.

Death Toll Of Gift Bomb Now Totals 4

Washington, Jan. 4.—(UP)—The death toll in the New Year's Day "gift bomb" outrage at Seat Pleasant, Md., Capital suburb, was increased to three today when Dorothy Hall, 4, died at Sibley hospital.

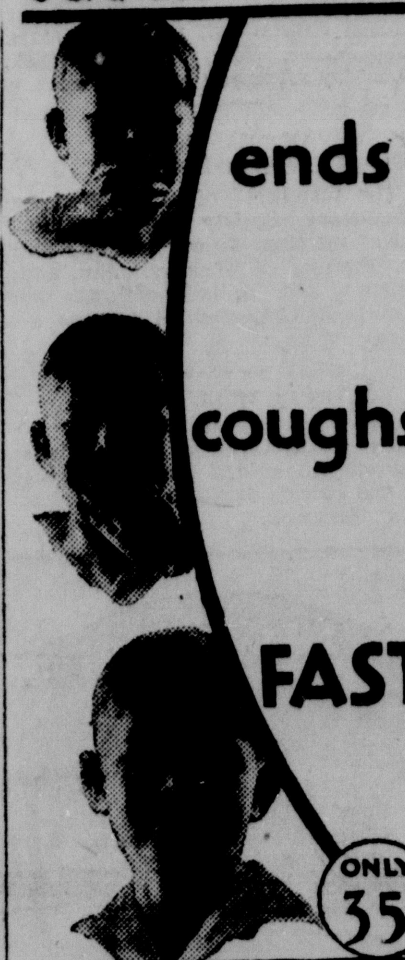

WHAT'S THE DIFF?

Mays Landing, N. J.—Figure this out—all caused by matrimony. A Risley woman becomes step-daughter-in-law to her own father, and her husband becomes step-son-in-law to his own mother by the marriage of Angelo Scarno and Mrs. El Remoff. Besides this, Schario becomes step-father to his son-in-law and his wife step mother to her daughter-in-law, while the younger couple, Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel K. Remhoff, are made step-brother and step-sister to each other.

SPORTS OF SORTS SHIRES SEEKING TO CLEAR SELF; DALY ACCUSER

Cleveland Battler's Statement To Be Investigated

Chicago, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The only interest Charles Arthur (The Great) Shires had in the boxing business today was to clear himself of charges of having participated in a fixed fight and attempting to fix another.

The Great One, with a yearning to sign a contract to play first base for the White Sox and withdraw from boxing, awaited a summons from the Illinois State Athletic Commission to give an explanation of charges that Dangerous Dan Daly of Cleveland had "taken a dive" for him in Shires' first professional fight at the White City Arena December 9.

Already under the ban of the Michigan Boxing Commission and the National Boxing Association, pending investigation of a charge that a representative of his had attempted to fix his scheduled engagement with one Battling Criss, at Detroit last week, the Great One's misery was increased by a claim purported to have been made by Daly that the latter had taken a dive.

The later charge was made by Daly, according to an interview printed in the Ohio State Journal of Columbus, O., yesterday. Daly, the story said, had "gone into the tank" for Shires, because he feared being "taken for a ride" if he failed to yield to a request made by a Shires representative.

Promoter Jim Mullen, Shires, and Eddie Meade of Cleveland, who brought Daly to Chicago for the fight, all vigorously denied knowing anything about attempts to fix the bout.

Shires admitted that Daly had taken a dive, but insisted it was not voluntary, having been induced by a stout right to the chin.

"I never imagined I'd be willing to fight again for nothing," Shires said, "but if I ever meet Daly or Gerry or whatever his name is, I'll slap him down without mercy and there won't be any admission charge."

Major General John J. Cullinane, Chairman of the Illinois State Athletic Commission, indicated life suspension for the promoter, fighters and managers involved in the affair, if the charges are proven.

Promoter Mullen said he would ask the Commission to request a warrant for Daly's arrest, then if the fighter wishes to repeat the charges, he should be compelled to make affidavit.

RICKARD'S DEATH YEAR AGO TODAY HURT THE GAME

His Successors are Unable To Carry On Like Him

BY FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)
New York, Jan. 6.—One year ago today the world of fisticuffs lost its most important and entertaining figure when Tex Rickard died at Miami Beach.

The year that has passed has seen the boxing game in which the late promoter was so pre-eminently successful plunged into the doldrums of mediocrity. Those who succeeded Rickard have demonstrated their inability to keep the upper hand in this modern "racket." Managers who respected Tex, or at least feared and "played ball" with him, now have the present heads of Madison Square Garden running bewilderedly in circles.

Had Rickard lived, we would have a heavyweight champion today, and that would be something. It is also more than likely that the inertia in the other divisions would not exist. The master showman would have seen to that.

There is some ground for belief, however, that Tex Rickard had reached the crest of his success shortly before his sudden death and that if he had lived he might have seen his more amazing dream castles tumble to earth around him. As a promoter of boxing he was without a peer. But Tex had dreamed of other ventures, a sporting paradise in Florida, race tracks and gambling casinos, amusement piers and real estate developments.

Dreams Wrecked
The wreckage of Rickard's dreams can be seen today, darkened windows and a sheriff's padlocks, crumbling skeletons of steel that were never completed, mortgages over everything, Mrs. Rickard, the young widow, who married Tex when he practically a millionaire, is living today in seclusion in a modest apartment at Miami Beach, trying to sell the house which Rickard had remodelled and refurbished for her by the waters of Biscayne Bay. The millionaire whom Tex was too proud to call his customers still play luxuriously in the Florida sunshine, but when the promoter's assets were totalled there was next to nothing left for his widow and small daughter.

Rickard's successors are trying to arrange a bout to be held at Miami in February, and unless their bewildered idea of publicity they are cutting rather poor figures. Last year's fight, arranged by Tex and carried through with the assistance of the glowing personality of Jack Dempsey, was a success from a financial point of view. This year's, if they have one at all, which is doubtful, is not going to be anything of the sort.

It took the imagination, fertile and daring, of Texas Rickard, to organize the fight game to his glamorous peak in 1927. It took Rickard's shrewd, suspicious mentality to keep the grasping parasites of managers who infest the sport from ruining it.

Boxing never has missed an individual as much as Tex Rickard has been missed during the past year.

HIGH-SALARIED STARS WILL GET CONTRACTS SOON

Ruth Will Be Easy: Vance And Grimes Are Balking

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
New York, Jan. 6.—(UP)—Major league clubs will mail out the 1930 contracts some time this month and one of them is expected to stipulate the largest baseball salary of all time.

Quite naturally the contract will go to Babe Ruth, somewhere in Florida, and the figures are quite likely to read: $150,000 for the seasons of 1930 and 1931.

Col. Jacob Ruppert and the Babe are understood to have agreed on this figure sometime ago when everyone else was concerned over Miller Huggins' successor as manager of the New York Yankees.

After Ruth's contract was settled, the lesser important business of picking the Yanks' leader was gone into and ended with Bob Shawkey getting the assignment. Shawkey's salary is understood to be somewhere in the neighborhood of $20,000.

After Ruth receives his contract he will bring it to the Yankees' office and the formality of signing it for the benefit of the cameramen and newspaper photographers will take place.

If Babe Ruth, baseball's highest paid star, was easy to agree to terms, Dazzy Vance of Brooklyn and Burleigh Grimes of Pittsburgh, who are numbered among the ten highest salaried players, probably will be two of the hardest to sign.

Vance drew $25,000 last season and will demand that salary again. Two members of the Brooklyn board of directors are in favor of trading Vance before they pay him the same salary again this season.

If Vance is sold or traded, he probably will land with either the Chicago Cubs or Cincinnati Reds.

Grimes is understood to have asked the Pittsburgh club for a $20,000 salary next season and Barney Dreyfuss is said to be opposed to meeting the right-handed ace's demands.

With the Cagers

Chicago, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Michigan, half-owner of the 1929 Western Conference basketball championship, will invade Minnesota tonight in quest of a flying start toward another title.

The conference season officially was inaugurated at Evanston Saturday night where Northwestern jolted Wisconsin's hop of again finishing at the top by trimming the Badgers 23 to 14. By the end of this week, every team in the Big Nine will have been in action, with two games on tonight's card.

In addition to the Michigan-Minnesota contest, Illinois will open its campaign at Champaign with Ohio State as its opposition.

Michigan, with three regulars and a pair of first string reserves available from the team that tied Wisconsin for the title last year, is figured to defeat Minnesota, but the Illinois-Ohio State tussle appears to be a tossup. Michigan has won all its three pre-conference games, while the Gophers have crashed through a schedule of five early opponents, without defeat.

Illinois' early efforts have not revealed championship power, while Ohio State's one claim to recognition as a contender lies in a victory over Notre Dame.

Wisconsin's midweek team stayed with Northwestern for three-quarters of Saturday night's battle, but failed before a closing rush that gave the Wildcats a nine-point triumph.

Saturday will be the big night of opening stage of the championship campaign. The Michigan invasion of Purdue shapes up as the feature number of a four-game program, while Northwestern will go to Minnesota in search of its second triumph. Indiana will tackle Chicago at Chicago, and Wisconsin will meet Ohio State at Columbus.

Chicago, which meets Ohio Wesleyan at Chicago tomorrow night, gave Butler a good fight, Saturday night, but went the way of Purdue and Illinois, by losing by 28 to 21. Minnesota had little difficulty in winning its fifth straight pre-conference victory at the expense of Grinnell, 30 to 15.

King George's collection of stamps, the value of which has never been calculated, fills some 200 volumes.

BETTER BALANCE IN SENIOR LOOP HEYDLER STATES

President Of The National League Expects Big Season

By JOHN A. HEYDLER
(President National League)
New York, Jan. 6.—(AP)—It is too early in the year to review the teams in our league for the 1930 pennant race, and it is too early to predict what kind of a season we may expect. But judging from the growth and progress of the game the past three years and the general strong trend of the public to all sports, I am impelled to predict that 1930 will prove another great year for baseball in general and the National League in particular.

It is a fact that the attendance in our league championship games the past three years totaled 15,000,000. During the three years prior to this period our attendance was about 12,000,000.

Now last season for the first time in about a decade our race was over by about Sept. 1. I do not anticipate such a runaway by any club this year. Both the Boston and Cincinnati clubs will present a much stronger front at the start of the next race. Both teams will have new managers who have proved their capacity to develop and lead first division teams. Then the Philadelphia team only developed its real strength toward the end of last season. This club should prove a feature of the 1930 pennant race. So here are three second division teams upon which we can't count to put up a real battle with the contenders from the start.

A better balanced league means a closer race, keener competition and as a natural result greater interest and attendance all over the circuit. It looks to me now as though we should have the best balanced league for 1930 in major league history, and therefore we have every reason to look forward with confidence to another great year.

SPORT BRIEFS

(BY UNITED PRESS)
Chicago — Four Big Nine conference basketball teams will open their official season tonight. Michigan, co-holder with Wisconsin of the 1929 Western Conference title, will play at Minnesota while Ohio State will battle Illinois. Northwestern defeated Wisconsin 23 to 14 Saturday in the first conference tilt of the season.

Paris—Ali Mamar Arbi, 29-year-old Algerian, splashed 7 1-2 miles through the rain to win the 21st cross country foot race for the Prix le Monnier yesterday. His time was 37 minutes, 3 seconds.

Paris—Jean Borotra, who won the singles title from Bill Tilden Saturday, annexed the doubles championship in the Christmas Cup tennis tournament when, paired with Glassner, he defeated the Torralva Brothers of Chile yesterday, 8-6, 6-4, 11-9.

Chicago — The University of Wisconsin hockey team will battle the Chicago Athletic Association sextet tonight in the Badgers' first appearance in the Chicago Stadium.

How They Grew Thin

You will be surprised, if you look around, at how many people have grown thin in late years. It is evident that some new method has come into very wide use.

It has been found that a weak gland is a great cause of obesity. So modern physicians have been fighting that cause, without starvation diets.

This right method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. Now in almost every circle the delightful results are apparent.

A book in each box of Marmola tells you how and why it acts. The formula is given. Go try this remarkable, this natural means. Ask your druggist today for a $1 box of Marmola. You owe that to yourself.

There will be twenty-five prizes in all. In the event of ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

DISTRIBUTION
 HUBERT ESTATE
 IS AGREED UPON

Coolidge, Al Smith And
 Rosenwald Divided
 Big Estate

BY MORRIS DE HAVEN TRACY
 (United Press Staff Correspondent)
 New York, Jan. 6.—(UP)—Millions amassed by a once poor immigrant from Russia who was a failure until he was 40, were distributed for the public good today by three of the nation's leading citizens—Calvin Coolidge, Alfred E. Smith and Julius Rosenwald.

The money represented three-quarters of the $10,000,000 fortune left by Conrad Hubert. Under the terms of his will his executors appointed Mr.
 Coolidge, Governor Smith and Rosenwald to control his distribution.

After working on the problem since June they announced the distribution revealing that they had divided
 it approximately as follows:

To hospitals and welfare institutions in New York City, $1,300,000 to Jewish institutions, $625,000; to work for the betterment of the conditions of Negroes, $750,000; to organizations concerned with mental hygiene, $500,000; to the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts, $500,000 each; to college, $650,000; and the remainder to a wide range of charitable, educational and religious institutions.

Each gift is given for a specific purpose, either already announced or agreed upon privately. No endowment funds are set up or given contribution. In every case the money is for projects involving capital expenditures and not for running expenses and each gift is supplemented by "an urgent request"—in the words of Governor Smith—that a like or greater sum be raised from other sources.

The distribution is the last remarkable chapter in a remarkable life.
 Hubert was successfully a cigar
 dealer, a restaurant proprietor,
 boarding house keeper, farmer, milk
 dealer, and finally, as he neared 40, a dealer in matches. Then he invented the electric flashlight and an uncertain career as an important business man was replaced by the accumulation of millions. When he died he not only left a large sum, but it was revealed he had disposed of what might be considered a comfortable fortune, by his patronage of charities.

Mr. Coolidge, Governor Smith and Rosenwald on Friday met a small group of newspapermen in the directors' room of the Bankers' Trust Company here, and told them of their work.

Accepted Task

They had accepted the responsibility of distributing the fortune last June and since then the three had met twice monthly at the Bankers'
 Trust Company.

More than 300 applications for a share of the Hubert fortune were studied by the three men and from that number 33 had been chosen.
 They added a regret that they did not have many times the amount available, so numerous were the worthy causes they had found.

The meeting of the three with newspapermen was itself remarkable.
 Mr. Coolidge acted as chairman of the committee but Governor Smith
 did the talking for the former "White House spokesman." He explained that in distributing the money they had considered these points:

The greatest good to the greatest number.

The fact that Hubert at various times had made his home in New York, Jersey City, N. J., and in Florida.

Pressing need for the projects under consideration.

The facts contained in the financial reports and revealed in other investigations of the various institutions.

"We have had a pleasant time together," said the Governor. "We have been glad to do it and see this vast sum poured into religious, charitable and educational channels."

Mr. Coolidge and Rosenwald both spoke words of appreciation for the others upon the committee.

Specific Donations

Among specific donations ordered to be paid out of funds immediately available were:

Boy Scouts of America, $500,000.
 Girl Scouts, Inc. $500,000.
 Provident Hospital of Chicago for the training of Negro physicians, $500,000.
 New York University, for a building, the following to be paid out of the first $1,000,000 of the residue of the estate.
 University of Chicago, for a school
 of social service administration, $250,000.

After the above requests are paid
 and the estate liquidated, the remainder is to be divided in equal shares among the following:

Kent School of Kent, Conn.
 New York Post Graduate Medical School and Hospital, of New York.
 Georgia Warm Springs Foundation, Warm Springs, Georgia.
 Leonard Wood Memorial for the Eradication of Leprosy, Philippine Islands.
 Clarke School of the Deaf, Northampton, Mass.
 Madonna House, New York.
 Trustees of Smith College, Northampton, Mass., for a school for social workers.
 John Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md., for its Institute of Law.
 Maternity Center Association, New York.
 Rollins College, Winterhaven, Florida.

The value of the estate is placed at between $6,000,000 and $8,000,000 dependent upon prices secured in liquidation for real estate holdings in Florida and elsewhere.

'PRISONER' EMERGES
 On First Trip from Vatican Soil, Pope Prays in Church
 Where He Was Ordained as Priest 50 Years Ago

Pope Pius XI is shown in this remarkable photo as he prayed before the high altar of the Cathedral of St. John Lateran, the church where 50 years before he had been ordained to the priesthood. His history-making trip to the cathedral was begun early in the morning when, without previous announcement, he and a small party motored from the Vatican into Italian territory. This was the first time since 1870 that a Pope actually had left Vatican soil. Since Pope Pius is the Bishop of Rome, and St. John Lateran the church of the Diocese, the visit also marked his taking possession of the cathedral which is traditionally his own. This was the Pope's first act in the observance of his Golden Jubilee.

PROFESSOR IN PLEA AGAINST UNIFORM LIFE

Ohio Students Urged to Evade Purely Mechanical Existence

By HARRY SHARPE
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 Columbus, O.—(UP)—The life of the average man, in the opinion of Dr. William L. Graves, professor of English at Ohio State University, is epitomized by the following:
 He got him a job.
 He married a wife.
 He bought him a Ford.
 And was fixed for life.

The average man, Professor Graves believes, is living in the materialism
 of a noisy, mechanical civilization;
 if he would save himself he must draw away from the machinery of existence which "tends to destroy his capacity for much that is finest in life."

Prof. Graves, a general favorite among the 10,000 students at Ohio State, addressed the graduating class.
 "Jobs you must have," said the instructor, "but you are trained for those; and wives you will take

"It's Snow Fun!" Cry Brave Co-Eds

It's just an old Actic custom, but when neighbors peered out the windows and saw Helen Hobbs and Jean Handley, Drury College freshmen, cavorting about in the snow at Springfield, Mo., with only scanty bathing suits for protection from the zero weather, they decided they had their seasons mixed. "It's snow fun," cried Miss Handley, shown at the right,
 "but just the same, we enjoy throwing snowballs, sledding and playing leap frog."

whether or not you are trained for matrimony; and automobiles, well—
 I read of one man who traded his wife for a used car.

"Domestic happiness is not enough;
 no rare all such pleasures as are typified by the symbols of swift transportation, physical excitement, personal risk, and danger. If your capable and materially successful life is to be given breadth and richness and color, if you are to achieve magnanimity as well as wealth and power, if art and music are to lend their indispensable aid in making you a cultivated person, if in a word, you are to enjoy the enlarged happiness that only culture can give, you will have to save yourself, even desperatly, from some of the things that will tend to draw you into the machinery of existence and destroy your capacity for much that is finest in life."

Dr. Graves assailed current entertainments as "filthy, and one might also say—prepared for, morose;" the idea of appreciating beautiful skyscrapers solely in terms of office space; the current public taste in books and magazines; and the public mind that is "touched to momentary appreciation of the romance in the discovery flights of a great aviator and will the next hour respond just as eagerly to the voice of a broadcaster dramatizing with shouts, whispers, and almost with sobs, the story of a prize fighter.

He urges each student to maintain within himself "a quiet place where the sense of beauty and dignity may spring to fruit, that they may cling to their own individuality in the current of an almost irresistible sweep toward uniformity."

Spectacular Oil
 Fire Near Bluffs

Bluffs, Ill., Jan. 6.—(UP)—Thirty thousand gallons of crude oil which escape through a break in the pipe line of the Texas Empire Oil Company, southwest of here, was destroyed in a spectacular fire yesterday afternoon.

Employees of the oil company deliberately ignited the oil which had been held in check by a temporary dyke, to prevent pollution of nearby streams. The blaze attracted several hundred spectators from nearby
 places and resulted in a loss of several hundred dollars to the firm.

The first break in the line was discovered last Tuesday and a crew of fifteen men were dispatched to the scene to close the breach. At one time it was thought that the break had been effectually repaired but when pressure was turned on,
 the line developed another break.

Farmers in the vicinity were given all the oil that they cared to haul away and persons from miles around made trips to the scene and obtained oil.

The line is a twelve inch main of the Texas Empire Oil Company which was laid last summer. It carries crude oil from the fields near Tulsa, Okla., to refineries in Chicago.
 It is expected that it will be in normal working order again today.

New Beauty

FOR THE NEW FORD

THE NEW FORD COUPE

Flowing grace of line gives style and distinction to new, roomy Ford bodies. Now on display at dealers' showrooms.

THE NEW FORD CARS, shown last Tuesday for the first time, have been enthusiastically received throughout the country. Everywhere it is realized that now, more than ever, the new Ford is a "value far above the price."

One of the distinguishing features of the new Ford bodies is the carefully planned harmony of every detail of design. From the new deep radiator to the tip of the curving rear fender there is an unbroken sweep of line—a flowing grace of contour heretofore thought possible only in an expensive automobile.

LOOKING at the new Ford you are impressed instantly by its smart style and compact, substantial sturdiness. For there is about it a certain character or personality which sets it apart and gives it a fresh and lasting beauty. You will take a real pride in this beauty just as you find a real thrill in the alert, capable performance of the car.

All of the new Ford bodies are finished in a variety of colors, with new striping and new streamline moulding. Interiors have more leg room. Closed cars have adjustable front seats. The smaller wheels, with larger tires, bring the car closer to the road, with a consequent gain in riding comfort and safety.

An additional feature of importance is the Rustless Steel used for the radiator shell, head lamps, hub caps, cowl finish strip and tail lamp.

This Rustless Steel will retain its bright, gleaming luster throughout the life of the car. It will not corrode, rust or tarnish in any kind of weather. Its brilliance is permanent. There is no plate to wear off, crack or scale, for it is the same bright metal all the way through.

The use of this Rustless Steel on the new Ford is a reflection of the enduring quality that has been built into every part of the car.

AT today's low prices the new Ford is unquestionably an outstanding value. Check it over feature by feature and you will see that it brings you everything you want or need in a modern automobile:—beauty of line and color . . . safety . . . comfort . . . speed . . . power . . . quick acceleration . . . ease of control . . . economy of operation . . . low up-keep cost . . . typical Ford reliability and long life.

ERRORGRAMS

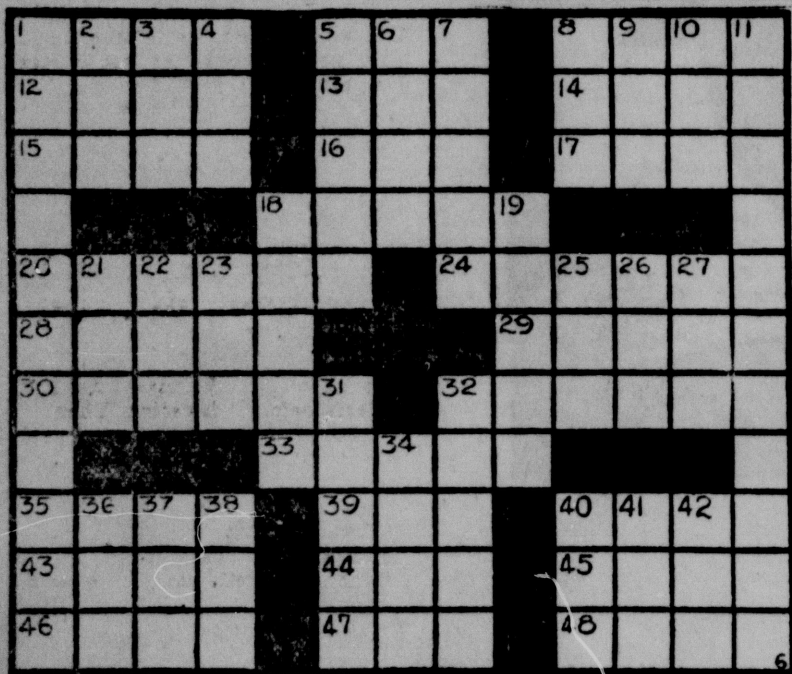

(Copyright, 1930, NEA Service, Inc.)

There are at least four mistakes in the above picture. They may pertain to grammar, history, etiquette, drawing or whatnot. See if you can find them. Then look at the scrambled word below—and unscramble it, by switching the letters around. Grade yourself 20 for each of the mistakes you find, and 20 for the word if you unscramble it. Tomorrow we'll explain the mistakes and tell you the word. Then you can see how near a hundred you bat.

SATURDAY'S ANSWER

There Goes the Bride!

While Eugenia Bankhead Hoyt, daughter of Congressman W. B. Bankhead of Alabama, was in Reno getting a divorce from Morton M. Hoyt, she saw a football game and fell in love with W. Lawson Butt, Nevada's star tackle. Three days later, when she got her divorce she and Butt were married. Now the honeymooners are en route to Honolulu. This picture was taken as they sailed from Los Angeles. Bill Akin and Charles Welborn, two of Butt's pals, are holding the bride aloft; Butt stands at the right.

AMAZING RELIEF OF RHEUMATISM IN JUST 5 DAYS

And Another Grateful Lady Praises the Gly-Cas as Without Equal in Any Medicine for Her.

And still they come—statements after statement from well-known and respected men and women all over this section who sincerely praise Gly-Cas the amazing vegetable medical discovery as without an equal in any treatment they have ever used before. For example, Mrs. Kelley, 119 N. Walnut St., Mansfield, Ohio, recently said:

"For several years I had been troubled with rheumatism which seemed to travel from place to place over my body and finally it settled in my left hip, bringing suffering to me that was simply terrible. I could not put on my shoes and was even unable to stoop over in my misery. A neighbor lady had taken Gly-Cas and after she told me how it had driven the rheumatism agony out of her arms and hip and said so many good things about this medicine, I started with it myself and I tell you, Gly-Cas is the best medicine that ever came into our home. In just 4 or five days after I began taking it, the awful rheumatism had actually left my hip and I honestly haven't been bothered with it since. I will never again be without Gly-Cas and heartily recommend it to anyone suffering from rheumatism."

Gly-Cas is sold in Dixon at the Campbell White Cross Pharmacy, 501 Franklin Grove, G. S. Ives; Polo, C. R. Clothier; Ashton, G. R. Charters; Amboy, Aschenbrenner Drug; Compton, W. H. Hills; Rochelle, Barker & Sullivan and by leading druggists in all surrounding towns—Adv.

Stanton—Despite heroic efforts of playmates, George Brun, 14, was drowned in a mine reservoir here Saturday. The boys had been playing on the ice when it gave way and Brun slid into the icy water. The other boys held out a tree branch to young Brun as he came up the third time. Brun touched the limb but was too feeble to hold it. His body was recovered by miners.

Collinsville—Junghans' Pond, located a few miles south of here, was being dragged today for the body of 9-year-old George Crooks, Jr., who was drowned yesterday while vainly trying to rescue his pal, Jack Albrecht, 13.

The two lads, with four companions, had been warned by a caretaker to stay off the treacherous "rubber ice," but unheeding the advice donned their skates and were speeding about the pond when a section 16 feet square gave way, plunging the six youths into the icy water.

Crooks made his way to the edge of the ice, but seeing his pal struggling and thrashing, returned to him and both disappeared.

August Stockley, 14, and Theodore Grozme, 13, were rescued by Roy Bennett, 15, who extended a pole to them from the shore. Herbert Atwood, 14, and John Mosloski, 12, made their own way to safety.

Albrecht's body was recovered about half an hour after his death.

Springfield—Approximately 100 alien convicts were deported last year in Illinois, according to Rodney F. Brandon, Director of the State Department of Public Welfare. The convicts were returned to their native lands. There are 700 more aliens who may be given the choice of being deported or remaining in prison, he said. Several convicts rejected an offer of deportation, preferring to stay in prison, Brandon declared.

Pittsfield—Mrs. Mildred Lytle, Assistant cashier of the defunct New Salem State Bank, was acquitted for the fourth time Saturday on charges arising out of the bank's failure. She had been acquitted previously on charges including conspiracy and receiving deposits with knowledge that the bank was insolvent. Two others will be tried on charges connected with the bank's closing.

Urbana—A head-on collision between two cars driven by Mrs. Samuel Ball, 40, and C. A. Johnson, senior at the University of Illinois, cost the life of Mrs. Ball here last night.

Springfield—Led by Homer Stenbraker, former Wabash college basketball player, who scored fourteen points, the Empires basketball team defeated the Waukegan Wildcats by a score of 37 to 36 here yesterday.

Quincy—A program calling for expenditure of $5,000,000 for building and extension work in Quincy during 1930 has been announced. The program includes the construction of a new hotel, new high school and three new business blocks.

Springfield—The state insurance liquidation act has not been nullified by action of Circuit Judge William J. Lindsay, Chicago, in appointing a receiver for the Peoples Life Insurance Company, according to an opinion by Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom. Carlstrom declared that a court can elect to follow the course prescribed under the liquidation act or appoint a receiver of its own.

Stanton—Despite heroic efforts of playmates, George Brun, 14, was drowned in a mine reservoir here Saturday. The boys had been playing on the ice when it gave way and Brun slid into the icy water. The other boys held out a tree branch to young Brun as he came up the third time. Brun touched the limb but was too feeble to hold it. His body was recovered by miners.

Collinsville—Junghans' Pond, located a few miles south of here, was being dragged today for the body of 9-year-old George Crooks, Jr., who was drowned yesterday while vainly trying to rescue his pal, Jack Albrecht, 13.

The two lads, with four companions, had been warned by a caretaker to stay off the treacherous "rubber ice," but unheeding the advice donned their skates and were speeding about the pond when a section 16 feet square gave way, plunging the six youths into the icy water.

Crooks made his way to the edge of the ice, but seeing his pal struggling and thrashing, returned to him and both disappeared.

August Stockley, 14, and Theodore Grozme, 13, were rescued by Roy Bennett, 15, who extended a pole to them from the shore. Herbert Atwood, 14, and John Mosloski, 12, made their own way to safety.

Albrecht's body was recovered about half an hour after his death.

JUDITH CAMERON, typist in a New York publishing house, is snubbed by other girls in the office because she is not commensurate about her private affairs. ARTHUR KNIGHT, executive who is reserved and a widower becomes interested in the girl and asks her to take dinner with him. Judith, somewhat embarrassed, accepts the invitation. Knight who has acted on a whim, becomes more and more attracted by the girl. He is lonely and his children—TONY, 18, and JUNIOR, 16—are both away from home. It is three nights later that Judith keeps a mysterious appointment with a young man whom she calls Dan. There is an argument between them in which the girl is overruled. Next day in the office Judith sees a picture of beautiful Tony Knight. For two weeks Arthur takes Judith to dinner, concerts and plays and at the end of that time asks her to marry him. She agrees.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IV

THE morning after Judith had promised to become Arthur Knight's wife she woke to face a dream world. The discordant clattering of the alarm clock aroused her at 7.

Judith shut the alarm off, threw down the covers and thrust one foot to the floor. Then she remembered.

She had agreed to marry Arthur Knight! A vision of that scene in the reception room last night beat in upon her dazed, half-doubting mind. She saw herself in Knight's arms. How he had held her, kissing her again and again, murmuring that he adored her, that she was precious beyond price, that he loved her, needed her and wanted her to be his wife!

One white hand went to Judith's lips. Hard to believe—that picture. She saw herself, too, half-sobbing, clinging to the man's shoulders as a frightened child might cling. She had returned Knight's kisses. She had allowed him to stroke her lovely hair, to pat her arms soothingly, promising that from now on everything in the world was to be beautiful and happy. Would they not share it all together?

Judith remembered how she had said good night last night with a quick smile, a kiss and the man's strong arms about her.

She was going to become Mrs. Arthur Knight!

Now she was thoroughly awake, wondering how she had ever been able to sleep through the night. There had been hours, of course, in which she lay sleepless and tossing. She remembered them too.

With a bound she was out of bed, aware time was flying and that subway rushes do not wait for sentiment.

THE coffee was boiling when she had finished at the dressing table and pulled the gray-blue jersey over her head. One final glance she stole into the mirror. The mirror was crooked and distorting.

"Bye, Old Looking Glass!" Judith Cameron said aloud. "We won't be here much longer!"

Then she sat down for a five-minute breakfast, finished the last drop of coffee and started for the door.

She had not reached it before there was a rap.

"Who is it?"

"It's me, Miss Cameron—Sarah."

Judith recognized the voice of the middle-aged servant whose function it was to provide the "maid service" her weekly rent was supposed to include.

Now Judith pulled the door back. "Good morning, Sarah," she said. Sarah stood in the doorway, a pasteboard box in her arms.

"For you, Miss Cameron."

Judith plunged into the morning's tasks immediately. But her eyes were brighter than usual and her cheeks stayed warmly pink all morning.

"For me?"

"I guess they're flowers. It's a flower shop name on the tag. Only, my! ain't it an elegant package, though!"

The girl was untying the wrappings. A soft "Ooh!" escaped her lips as she drew away the green tissue.

"Look, Sarah, look!"

It was the most exquisite corsage of violets Judith had ever beheld which she raised from the box. The rich, dewy perfume of the blossoms was like a poem. Quietly outlined with a lace ruff and tied with ribbons, the bouquet was certainly a perfect love token.

"Oh, they are lovely—they're beautiful," Judith murmured, fastening her eyes on the flowers. "What can I do with them, Sarah? Where'll I put them?"

"Aren't you going to wear 'em, Miss Cameron?"

"No. Not this morning I'm afraid. I—I couldn't. Oh, I don't want them to die!"

"Want me to put 'em in the ice box, Miss Cameron? They'll keep perfect there. Won't take up much room neither."

"Would you, Sarah? Oh, that's sweet of you. Here—"

Judith extracted three or four of the violets and tucked them into Sarah's blouse.

"Now then—I'll have to run like everything. I'm late. Goodbye, Sarah. Thank you a lot."

"Bye, Miss Cameron."

Here eyes were brighter than usual and her cheeks stayed warmly pink all morning.
